The company, which was created in 1936, specialises in the design and manufacture of prestigious communication supports.

Customers include luxury and top-of-range businesses and those wishing to promote their image through traditional high-quality printing methods. In particular the company creates headed notepaper for businesses.

And its particular skill? It employs traditional gilding, embossing and seal printing techniques.

Customers of L André & Cie include Louis Vuitton, Christian Dior and Christian Lacroix. Customers are usually businesses but may include institutions and private individuals.
