Founded in 1947, the company is specialised in artistic iron work. It makes twisting stair banisters, portals, balconies, verandas with zinc roofs and decorative parts.

Atelier Féraud is also experienced in metal work and makes bay windows. The company is known for its innovation, particularly in assembling parts. It interprets traditional techniques (forge welding, traditional riveting, manufacture of stamping dies, hammer spinning, etc.) and re-incorporates them in the manufacturing process to obtain original shapes and a combination of styles. The workshop makes each element itself: knobs, volutes, points, etc. Ring balusters, which have come back into fashion, are cast in the workshop in old moulds. In addition, the workshop carries out gold-leafing work. The company works on listed buildings: it took part in renovating the “Pont d’Avignon” (Saint Bénézet bridge) and the gate of Notre Dame de Santé in Carpentras. The company works exclusively on order.
