The company makes traditional fireplaces and installs heating units.

It is specialised in designing, producing, renovating and maintaining traditional brick wood-burning stoves for bakery professionals and also installs rotary hearth furnaces and annular ovens.

It stands out in the profession by its mastery of rare know-how in the production of brick direct-fired wood-burning stoves. The workshop builds wood-burning stoves from fully protected, customised blueprints using an ancestral masonry technique that notably enables its customers to use the official "baked in a wood-fired oven" label. These carefully-made firebrick units require long experience and high technical expertise.

It also restores old ovens.

It has an established clientele.
