FLS (France LuxuryShirt) is the successor of the LETRANGE and SICRIE companies founded in 1838. The company specialises in the manufacture of men's shirts and women's shirts blouses, working under contract to French luxury brands. The company masters all of the stages in product manufacturing, from pattern-cutting development, prototyping, collection creation and finally serial production. This is done entirely in France at the Villemandeur site (1 hour from Paris).

The company includes a design office, a prototyping line, a cutting service equipped with LECTRA automatic cutters, two serial assembly lines and an ironing service.

The company has around fifty employees.
