The Faïences de Ponchon company has kept rare know-how alive in the area of uncooked glazed tile decoration. It is located in Ponchon, a historical faïence production site.

It is specialised in the production of faïence tiles decorated using stencils, notably for wall decoration (kitchens, bathrooms) and faïence tableware.

It has rare expertise in faïence tiles decorated with stencils or freehand. It buys biscuit tiles that are then glazed, dried and painted by hand on the uncooked glaze, and then fired.

Very few companies in France have this know-how. The profession has been registered with the Inventaire des Métiers d'Art Rares (Inventory of Rare Art Professions).
